Service - Systems Integration

Copper State values its relationships with customers well beyond the products we provide. We recognize the importance of keeping up with the latest technological advances. Speed, efficiency, and accuracy can be gained through our innovative integration systems.

In addition to systems and technological resources, we work closely with customers to share information electronically, instilling trust and integrity in our partnerships. We offer traditional and customer specific electronic data interchange (EDI), customer portal document management, and a website punch-out.

As technology and information access continues to evolve, we are committed to strengthening our integration support with greater website access, ERP portal access, smartphone apps, and other tools to help our customers stay connected.

We have proven success integrating within systems such as SAP (and Ariba), Microsoft Dynamics, Oracle, JD Edwards, as well as many others. Our experience working with larger customers and government entities has established confidence and capabilities that allow us to offer similar integration services to any one of our customers.

Trusted integration throughout our business together
